Sapphire Wind Farm Community Co-Investment: Now open to all NSW and ACT residents until 30 June 2019

Newcastle, NSW. The Sapphire Wind Farm Community Co-Investment initiative has been expanded to allow all residents in NSW and the ACT to invest, following its successful implementation in the New England region. The offer has also been extended until 30 June 2019.

Community co-investment in large renewable energy projects is relatively common in Europe, but it is new to Australia. CWP Renewables and Partners Group, through their joint venture Grassroots Renewable Energy, are pioneering community investment in their Australian project portfolio, starting at Sapphire.

Community investors will receive a return of 6% for 9 ½ years, with a minimum investment of $1,250 and a maximum investment of $200,000.

“We believe in sharing the benefits of our projects” said Andrew Dickson from CWP Renewables. “Community co-investment allows everyday people to invest in our projects, alongside institutional investors.”

The community investment will be managed through an innovative online ‘fractional investment’ platform called DomaCom (www.domacom.com.au). Investors can use DomaCom’s website to sign up, transfer their funds and manage how their returns will be paid to them each quarter.

“We believe that a return of 6% represents a good investment, and it is much higher than the bank rate” said Mr Dickson. “Participation in this community co-investment initiative also provides the satisfaction of contributing to the creation of good jobs and clean energy in regional areas.”
